

The UK scores highly on labour rights, but falls down on tax and education spending

